Dear Parents,

Re: Half Term Updates and Important Notices for Parents

Welcome back to a brand-new half term! It was lovely to see so many smiling faces at the gate this morning — both pupils and parents — ready for another exciting few weeks of learning ahead.

This half term, our curriculum continues to be embedded across all year groups, with a strong focus on ensuring consistency, challenge, and enjoyment in every classroom.

We are also delighted to welcome Ms. Aysha Alghoul, our new Head of Arabic, who joined our team this week. She will be working closely with staff and pupils to further develop our Arabic provision across the school.

Following our recent Reading Workshop, we have attached a list of recommended authors that will help support your child's vocabulary development, comprehension skills, and love of reading. While these authors are all highly regarded for enriching language and understanding, we kindly remind parents to review individual books for suitability, as some may explore themes which are not appropriate for our setting.

We would also like to update parents on our end-of-day routines. Up until 3:00 pm, parents and carers should go directly to their child's classroom or year group corridor for collection. Any pupils who are collected after this time will be taken to the relevant School Counsellor's office, where they can be collected safely. This update helps us ensure that all dismissal procedures run smoothly and, most importantly, that the safety and wellbeing of our children remain paramount at all times.

Furthermore, we would like to remind parents that the Art Exhibition will be taking place on Wednesday and Thursday this week. This will be taking place in the MPH, with the official opening being at 10.00am. We look forward to welcoming our community into school to celebrate all the wonderful work which has been created.

Thank you, as always, for your continued support and enthusiasm. We look forward to a fantastic half term ahead!

Warm regards,

William Winton
Head of Primary
